DEPARTMENT OF STATE
ASSISTANT SECRETARY FOR CONSULAR AFFAIRS
WASHINGTON

December 8, 1978

TO: CA/SCS - Mr. Alan Gise

FROM: CA - Hume Horan

SUBJECT: List for [redacted] Eb6

I explained to [redacted] December 8, that the Task Force headed by Lee Marks was interested in knowing (a) down to what level did he want the names of the people who had had a consular relationship with the Guyanese problem and (b) what Congressional process would these names become part of. Eb6

[redacted] said that Chairman Zablocki had asked his staff as part of a totally preliminary approach to Guyana to consider interviewing certain people. The Committee Staff would interview the surviving newsmen, Jackie Speier, Dick McCoy, and some of the relatives. As for the list of U.S. officials, he did not think it should extend below one grade or position lower than that of Alan Gise. Moreover, he did not expect Committee people to meet with all consular officials listed. What he wanted was a base of names that he could show to the Chairman. It would then be decided what the responsibility of the Committee was and what should be done in the future. [redacted] did not personally favor hearings and said that after discussions with selected people the Chairman would decide what to do. This could eventually lead to hearings or -- alternatively -- the Chairman might decide that enough had been done. Eb6 Eb6

Could you prepare a list, and perhaps break it down by categories of relevancy? In the most relevant column might be officials who had in Washington or Georgetown worked extensively on the People's Temple. This might even include the ex-DCM, the Ambassador, and our present DCM, Dick McCoy, and Frank Tumminia. People in our own office would be known to you, but for reasons of rank, the number of those below you should be kept to a minimum. Maybe just Dick Belt (if you and he agree).

We could also mention whomever it was in L that advised us on the People's Temple if there was much input.

I might say tha[redacted] tone was reasonable and non-inquisitorial (for what its worth). E b6

ACTION: Could we give[redacted] some names today that we could agree should be on anyone's list of bona fide Guyana experts (we could think about names -- if any -- of people with a less direct tie to Guyana that may be given to[redacted] E b6 E b6
